Port seeks a biodiesel maker

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The Port of Sacramento is proceeding with plans to bring a "biodiesel" fuel manufacturer to the port's northern terminal area near Industrial Boulevard.

"We had a number of firms propose a biodiesel facility at the port," said Mike Luken, port manager. "Because we had so many, we did an RFP ("request for proposals") process."

The RFP resulted in what are essentially competitive proposals from different firms.

Biodiesel uses agricultural products like vegetable oils to create fuel to run in diesel-powered vehicles. Proponents say the vehicles get high fuel economy and produce less pollution than conventional gas or diesel vehicles.

"They would manufacture biodiesel from vegetable-based oil products," Luken said of the port's prospective new tenant. "The port's desire is to have maritime shipment of both the raw product, and as much of the finished produc going out as possible. Tha will maximize port revenues Our objective is to select a firm based on a number of factors, and that is one factor."

He and his staff have tentatively settled on a firm to recommend to the port's governing board, but that decision has not been finalized.

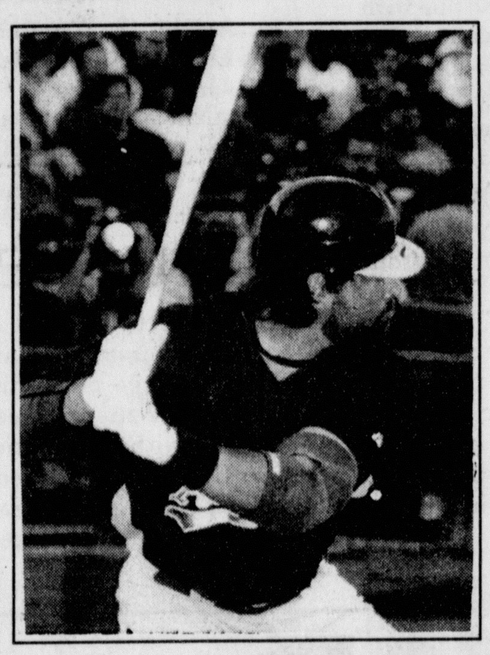

Luken added that transporting a lot of the manufacturing facility's raw materials and finished fuel product by ship will also "lessen the amount of truck traffic on the roads, and the amount of rail" needed to service the project.

He hopes to bring a staff recommendation to the port's governing board in May or June on the project.

The port is located in West Sacramento and effectively controlled by the city.

River Cats almost defeat Oakland A's at Raley Field

Thursday featured the traditional courtesy call from the parent club: the Major League Baseball Oakland A's came to West Sacramento for a preseason match-up with their Triple-A "farm team," the Sacramento River Cats.

A double from new A's designated hitter Mike Piazza helped put Oakland up 6-0 in three innings, but the River Cats chased the A's to an eventual 11-10 Oakland victory.

The A's Piazza (LEFT) later hit a home run in the game at Raley Field. Oakland's Nick Swisher hit two homers. Four Sacramento River Cats (First baseman Daric Barton, catcher Jeremy Brown, shotstop J.J. Furmaniak and outfielder Charles Thomas) each had three hits in the 19-hit effort from the home team.

Strategic review:

Help shape new city master plan

From Art Schroeder
City of West Sacramento

What will West Sacramento look like in 2030? You can help determine the future direction as well as the appearance of the city by participating in the first civic meeting on the General Plan Update. Join other community members in the kickoff to the General Plan Update on Thursday, April 12th at 7:00 p.m.-9:30 p.m. in the Civic Center Galleria. The meeting will ask residents to review the city's current vision and identify issues and opportunities for future study.

The meeting represents the first community meeting that will be part of a two and a half year process to develop the first major update of the city's General Plan. It's the first time since 1990 that the city of West Sacramento has undertaken a major update of its General Plan. The General Plan is a guide that spells out the details necessary to create a thriving and well balanced "premier city."

Two ways to stay informed about what is happening on the city's General Plan Update include:

- Visting the city Web site at www.cityofwestsacramento.org to review the latest information on the General plan update process.
- E-mail the city at gpu2007@cityofwestsacramento.org to request to be put on an e-mail notification list or ask questions about the General Plan Update.

Baby's death a mystery

The Yolo County Sheriff's Department is investigating the discovery of a dead infant, found Thursday afternoon in the Conway Canal on County Road 22 east of Woodland.

A bowfisherman found a sealed container weighed down with several weighted objects, reported Supervising Deputy Coroner Robert LaBrash. In it was a baby who appeared to be under three months of age and who had been dead "at least six months or longer," and a baby's diaper. Further information – including the baby's gender or cause of death – is not known, but examination by forensic pathology and forensic anthropology are underway, said LaBrash.

Investigators will use DNA tests "if conditions permit" to help trace the infant, he added.

Anyone with possible information on the child is asked to contact the sheriff's detectives section at (530) 668 5280.

Who knew alcohol and drug prevention could be so much fun, but with Yolo County's Friday Night Live (FNL) program, that is exactly what you will find. The statewide program, developed in 1984, began as a pilot dedicated to reducing deaths and injuries caused by teens driving under the influence of alcohol and drugs. In the early years, youth involved were organized into high school-based student action groups. The success rate was so great that in 1988 a statewide office was established. By 1990, the number of counties with FNL programs increased 300 percent and the focus shifted from preventing drinking and driving among teens to promoting healthy lifestyles free of alcohol and drugs among youth. Today, FNL programs are focused on forming youth/adult partnerships and providing programs rich in opportunities and support so young people will be less likely to engage in problem behaviors, more likely to achieve in school, and more likely to attend higher education and secure gainful employment.

Yolo County opened its FNL office in 1989 under the umbrella of the Alcohol, Drug and Mental Health Department. Originally an opportunity for high school students to come together in local school chapters, the program has grown to include middle schools in Club Live and both high school and middle school students in the FNL mentoring program. Many counties have elementary school programs, known as FNL Kids, which Yolo County is expected to establish this year as well.

FNL and Club Live students meet after school for fun activities that incorporate life skills and drug and alcohol prevention programs. The

Does the man in your life suffer from 'brain fog'?

Daily Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

One morning last week, my wife called the office to inform me that she would not be at home most of that evening and to plan accordingly.

"So, do you have a hot date with another man or what?" I asked.

"No, that's next Saturday night."

"I see."

"Actually," explained my wife, "Carrie (my daughter) and I are just going over to Kelly's (my sister-in-law) to a candle party."

"And what in the world is a candle party?" I asked with interest.

"What world do you live in, Daryl?"

"The one with electricity."

"Well, just so you will know, a candle party is like a Tupperware party, only with candles." And quickly anticipating my next question, she added, "Tupperware are those little plastic containers that people use to store food in in the refrigerator."

"So," I said, "let me get this straight. You are going over to Kelly's tonight and you'll probably be coming home with a bunch of those foul-smelling candles?"

"That's correct. Gotta go. Bye."

Later that evening, after my wife had returned home, I decided to ask her how the candle party had gone.

"Pretty well," said my wife, "considering Kelly punched Greg (my brother) in the arm."

"Greg got punched-out by Kelly at the candle party?" I asked with a big smile.

"He didn't get punched-out, Daryl, he just got slugged in the arm for continuing to complain about how all the burning candles were making it hard for him to breathe."

"So how many candles did Kelly have burning?" I asked, still smiling.

"Oh, about 20 I guess? And why all these questions? You're not thinking of making a column out of this, are you? I don't want you telling all of West Sacramento that your brother and his wife had a fight at the candle party!"

"Of course I wouldn't do that," I assured my wife. "What kind of person do you think I am?"

So, since my wife won't allow me to write about my brother and his wife getting into a big fight the other night at a candle party, I will just re-run the following column, which I wrote a half-dozen or so years ago, which talks in some detail about the "brain fog" my poor brother was probably suffering from when he got slugged:

I was leisurely thumbing through the Sacramento Bee this past weekend when I came across an Associated Press article entitled "Feud over the scent of a woman." The story was about a wife being charged with trying to harm her chemically sensitive husband with perfumes and scented candles. She also apparently sprayed the house they shared with bug killers and Lysol disinfectant, plugged in scented air fresheners in rooms he frequented, and stationed lavender sachets strategically throughout the home. According to the woman's husband, "This extreme exposure made me very ill with severe brain fog, headache, numbness and trembling and pain throughout my body so severe I could barely move."

The story went on to explain that the couple was feuding over a $150,000 worker's compensation settlement the husband had received for a rare new disorder called multiple chemical sensitivity, which is caused by an allergic reaction to perfumes and other scents.

"Hey," I yelled out to my wife, who was in another room, "have you ever heard of something called multiple chemical sensitivity?"

"What?" she yelled back.

"Multiple chemical sensitivity!"

"What is it?"

"A new disease they've discovered!"

"Never heard of it!"

"Well, it says here in the newspaper that some poor guy's wife has been trying to kill him with the perfume she wears and the scented candles she keeps burning all over the house. She's been charged with aggravated battery, which, by the way, carries with it a sentence of up to 15 years in prison!"

Apparently tired of yelling back and forth, my wife suddenly joined me in the front room and asked, "What are you talking about?"

"Well, it says here in the paper that they've discovered that some men can get really sick from smelling some of those god-awful perfumes you women are wearing nowadays."

"It does, does it?"

"And I've definitely noticed that over the years I've become more sensitive to women's perfumes. I wonder who thinks up all those horrible smells, anyway?"

"Probably the same people who gave the world Old Spice, Brute, Jade East and English Leather, which women have been smelling for decades without complaining."

"Anyway," I said, "it says here that those scented candles you love can bring on multiple chemical sensitivity, too."

"Is that right?"

"And it can give some men very severe brain fog."

"Brain fog?"

"That's right."

"And just what are some of the symptoms of this brain fog?" she asked with interest.

"Well, among other things, it apparently makes men really feeble and barely able to get out of their chair."

"And they're calling this a brand new disease?"

"Very funny."

"I've got work to do, Daryl."

"But this is serious," I said. "And to tell you the truth, I've noticed that I start to feel a little foggy myself when you light up one of those bloody scented candles of yours."

"No matter how many times you ask, Daryl, I am not throwing away the scented candles!"

"But I could end up with severe brain fog."

"I know you hate scented candles, but you were the one who insisted on getting an indoor dog that smells up the whole house."

"But those candles smell soooooooo bad!"

"Not as bad as the dog."

"But I bath him every week."

"The candles go when the dog goes."

"And you don't even care if I end up getting severe brain fog?"

"Trust me -- no one will ever notice the difference."

"Play ball!"

It's the battle cry heard all over the United States this week as baseball fans prepare for another long season of Americas favorite past time. With Easter Sunday just around the corner and major league baseball teams into their first week of competition - It's time to Play Ball!

The San Francisco Giants will open up their season at home with Barry Zito on the mound on Tuesday afternoon against the West Division champion San Diego Padres and then host the Los Angeles Dodgers in three game weekend series.

The Oakland A's will open their season up north in Seattle to play a three game series starting on Monday night against the Mariners and then fly down south to Disneyland on Thursday to play a four game series against the Angels

Meanwhile, the NCAA crowned the University of Florida their new men's 2007 basketball champion on Monday in Atlanta after Ohio State couldn't finish the last dance with the defending champions. The Gators handled UCLA with ease on Saturday to move into the last dance against the Buckeyes who outlasted Georgetown in the other semifinal.

But the five-point favored Florida Gators were not to be denied with an overwhelming 84-75 victory in the NCAA final. It's the first time in 15 years that college basketball has had a repeat national champion. Duke won back-to-back championships in 1991/92. Also, it was the first time in NCAA history that the Men's Basketball final and the Men's Football championship game pitted the same two universities and of course Florida won both national championships.

Kings Korner

Stick a fork in them - there done! Yes, I'm talking about the Sacramento Kings 2007 basketball season. The Kings managed to lose their pivotal must-win game last Friday night at the Arco against the 8th seeded Los Angeles Clippers. The Kings played with no enthusiasm or energy and were just plain awful.

The Kings will go through the motions in their final nine games of the season and must decide if playing to win is more important than a favorable position in the 2007 NBA draft. The big question for the Maloof's is: will coach Musselman return for next season?

Diamond Notes

The River Cats hosted their parent team, the Oakland A's, last Wednesday in West Sacramento and almost pulled off the upset of the preseason. The Gatos trailed 5-0 in the early inning but came back to press the A's to 11-10 loss much to the delight of the sold-out crowd at Raley Field.

The River Cats season opener is on Thursday night (7:05 p.m.) April 5th against the Tacoma Rainiers at Raley Field. For game and ticket information, visit www.rivercats.com.

Korner Kicks

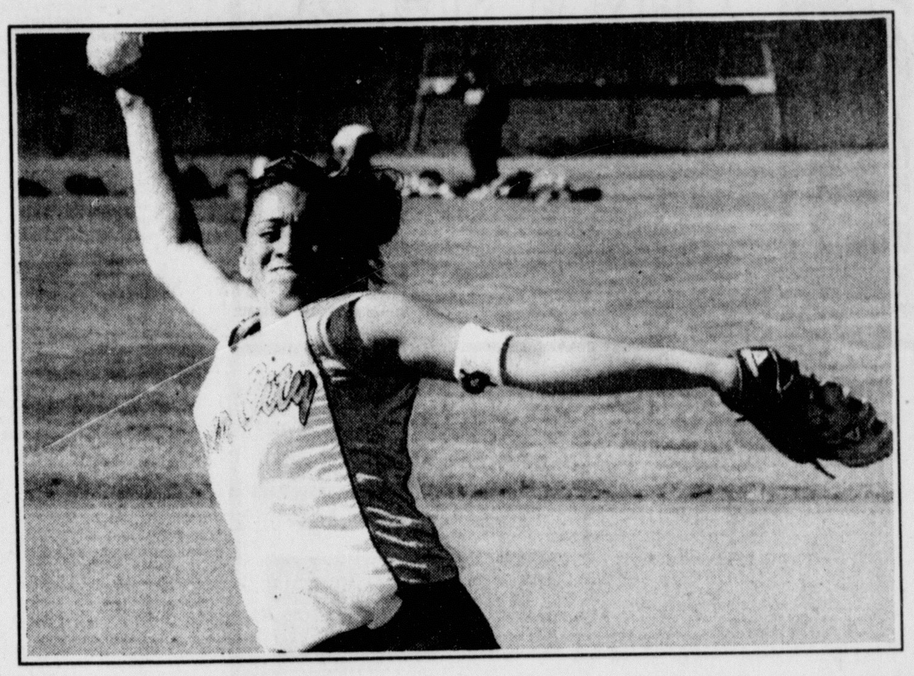

The California Victory, a professional 1st division team in the USL, will be in town on Friday night (7 p.m.) at ARC playing an exhibition game against the Central California Soccer League defending champion, Real San Juan. The Victory is an affiliate of Deportivo Alaves of Spain which is based in the city of Vitoria-Gasteiz in the Basque Country in Spain.

Bay Area Entrepreneur and Berkeley graduate Dmitry Piterman, who is also president of Spanish club Deportivo Alavés, officially acquired the USL franchise in 2006 and will play its home games in San Francisco at the legendary Kezar Stadium near Golden Gate Park.

Real San Juan, the 2006 C.C.S.L. defending champions, features the areas top soccer players including Jimmy Frazelle, Marcos Mercado and Anthony Chimieni, the two-time MVP and leading goal scorer in the National Premier Soccer League for the national champion Sacramento Knights. The game will be played at the American River College Stadium and tickets are priced at $10 for adults and $6 for children.

Enjoy your day – see ya next week!

River City High School's softball team, coached by Staci Hatz, defeated Edison by a score of 2-1 on Saturday. The team now has a record of 8-6-1, including a 2-2 record in conference play.

The squad plays next at Foothill High on Wednesday, April 11. The next home game is April 17 at 4 p.m. against Rio Linda.

Raider tennis alone on top

From River City High School

With a pair of 9-0 shutouts over Center and Foothill, the River City High School tennis team wrapped up an unbeaten first half of the 2007 Capital Valley Conference schedule last week. The Raiders are now 6-0 in CVC play and added a 8-1 non-league win at Whitney to improve their overall record to 13-1 this season.

At Center, RC was led by boys singles players Chris Salazar and Doug Tipton, and by three doubles teams that only dropped one game each. Salazar won at #1 and Tipton at #2. 10-1 doubles victories were posted by Kehoua Saechao and Adrian Araza (#1 boys), Anna Bouttavong and Sandy Phousanglasy (#1 girls) and Gary Yang and Svetlana Istomin (mixed).

In girls singles, RC's Cindy Yang outlasted her opponent, fighting off two match points and winning a third set supertiebreaker. Teammate Yelena Ionova had a relatively easy victory in the #2 spot, while the other two wins for the visitors came from Brandon Yip and Josel Tanjutco at #2 boys doubles, and Yian Saetern and Julie Saeteurn at #2 girls doubles.

Ten former River City tennis players were on hand to witness the blanking of visiting Foothill. The alums witnessed a rare 6-0,6-0 "double bagel" put up by Ionova at #2 girls singles and four 10-0 shutouts in five doubles contests. Saechao paired with Yip at #1 boys, Bouttavong and Phouanglasy at #1 girls, Tamara Lopatin and Istomin at #2 girls, and Tanjutco and Saeteurn in mixed. Araza and Gary Yang came close in the #2 boys doubles position, winning 10-2. Salazar and Tipton also yielded just 2 games each in the boys singles matches and Cindy Yang cruised 6-1,6-0 at the top girls spot.

It's spring break from classes at River City this week, the squad travels up to San Andreas to play Calaveras tomorrow.

POLICE LOG

March 26, 7:35 a.m.

Officers responded to a carjacking near Evergreen and Harbor. Two suspects with ski masks and goggles punched a delivery van driver in the face and took the van. The white GMC van with company logo was carrying prescription drugs. One suspect left in the van and another followed in a brown van.

March 26 (night shift)

A man was arrested for setting his girlfriend's car on fire near Reed Avenue and Harbor Boulevard.

March 28 (night shift)

Officers contacted an F Street woman and arrested her on an outstanding warrant. Another woman came to the location to take custody of the suspect's children, but she was also arrested after officers learned she had outstanding warrants. "Due to unhealthy living conditions," police notified Child Protective Services regarding the children.

March 29 (second shift)

Officers responded to Myrtle Street after a report that a man was brandishing a knife and slicing car tires. They traced the suspect to an Elliot Street address and identified him as a parolee at large. The suspect at first refused to come out of the house, then tried to escape through a side garage door. A police dog helped "deter" further escape attempts, and he was jailed.

March 30, 3:09 a.m.

An officer contacted a man walking in the roadway at Southport Parkway and Lake Washington Boulevard. The man was found to have a felony warrant. He was arrested.

March 30, 10:15 p.m.

Police stopped a driver who pulled out of a Jefferson Blvd. bar and nearly caused a collision. The suspect was then arrested for driving under the influence and released to the care of a "responsible" party, with a notice to appear in court.

March 30

Police received a tip about possible methamphetamine manufacturing at 1900 Evergreen Avenue. The male resident was on probation, and had prior convictions for drug manufacturing. A probation search was conducted and turned up "a small meth lab, drug paraphernalia and destructive devices." A county drug enforcement task force responded for the lab, bomb squad members addressed the devices and a detective investigated stolen property. The man and his wife were arrested for drug charges, child endangerment and possession of destructive devices.

March 31 (second shift)

A man was arrested for carjacking a vehicle from his girlfriend. The vehicle was recovered at 600 Jefferson Blvd.

March 31 (second shift)

Police arrested a man for felony assault on his former girlfriend near Carrie Street and served him with an emergency protective order to prevent further contact with the woman. He made bail and left jail in 90 minutes, then went to the victim's residence. He fled police there but was captured near Sacramento Avenue and Todhunter. The new arrest led to enhanced bail, and charges of stalking due to a "lengthy" history of calls regarding the suspect and victim.

April 1, 7:08 a.m.

"Numerous" people called to report hearing six to eight shots fired near Oak and Sacramento Avenue.

April 1 (daytime)

Police contacted a man at 4th and E streets, and arrested him for cocaine possession.

April 1

A Gooseberry Circle man was arrested for assault. He was a parolee.

April 1, 6:26 p.m.

Several squad cars responded to Linden Road and Jefferson Boulevard for a felony hit-and-run, after a late-model pickup truck rear-ended two vehicles and fled the scene. Three people were taken to the hospital. Traffic officers began an investigation.

April 1, 10:29 p.m.

A gas station on the 2400-block of West Capitol Avenue reported an armed robbery. The suspect – a 5'9", 30-year old white male with a heavy build, was armed with a small black semiautomatic gun. The suspect's vehicle, a dark pickup, fled westbound on West Capitol and south on Harbor Boulevard.

THE YOLO INDEPENDENT — FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1921.

REPAIR WORK ON CONCRETE HIGHWAY IN WEST SACRAMENTO HAS BEEN STARTED

Preliminary to building a modern roadway through the West Sacramento district engineers have been more or less at sea as to how to proceed.

Several years ago a concrete roadway was built from the soil laboratory southward a distance of about five miles to the church now located there as a landmark. This road getting no attention and very little repair has practically disintegrated and to add to its poor condition great beet trucks cut it to pieces two months ago when hauling beets to Jefferson station on the O. A. & E. R. R.

Many engineers have viewed this road in order to estimate what should be done to it—tear it up and throw it away or use it as a base for another road or layer of concrete.

Last week a decision was arrived at with the results that Joe Lawrence is now ready to start crushing the concrete with a 20 ton roller so that the new road made may be laid on top of it.

Lawrence's roller is equipped with great spikes about 3 inches in length. These will penetrate the concrete and the weight of the roller will crush it to an even base for the new materials.

This is an experiment that has not been tried but is estimated to give the best satisfaction under the circumstances.

There are many great chuck holes in this stretch of roadway which will be filled with loose rock or concrete before the permanent road will be laid.

As mentioned above this road extends from the soil laboratory to the Catholic church. From that point the road will turn eastward towards the river levee at Lisbon station and thence southerly to the town of Clarksburg.

Supervisor Leinberger believes he will be able to get this road graded before heavy rains and hopes to finish the road before next spring.

Great traffic now runs over this roadway for all farmers of the West Sacramento district and a great many from the Holland district use it to get their crops to Sacramento.

With an improved road there an immense amount of traffic will be added to that which now crosses the Southern Pacific and M st bridges.

Only one bad place remains to be repaired in the road between the M st bridge and the West Sacramento headquarters. This work has already been ordered done by Supervisor Leinberger and is now in the hands of Teichert & Sons of Sacramento.

Nearly all the other Yolo County Highways specified in the $1,000,000 bond issue have been completed leaving this section of the county to suffer again during the coming winter.

TRUCK AND MOTOR-CYCLE ACCIDENT MAY RESULT IN LAWSUIT

Last Wednesday afternoon about 3 p. m., when Ed Curry, who was crossing the Southern Pacific bridge with his automobile truck, a motorcycle under the control of Frank Murral of Sacramento passed him at Third Street.

Murray, blocked by another car, was forced to stop and gave the sign to Curry, who was behind him.

Curry either failed to see the sign or could not stop on the incline of the bridge and as a consequence ran down Murray, throwing him off the motorcycle and wrecking the machine considerably.

Murray's coat and pants were torn off him, but yet Curry failed to stop to give him help.

Murray insists that Curry is responsible for the damage done, but Curry refuses to see it that way, even though he acknowledges he did not stop to give the injured man assistance.

God knows. I am not the thing I should be,
Nor am I even the thing I could be
But twenty times I rather would be
An atheist clean,
Than under Gospel colors hid be
Just for a screen.

BOLD HOLDUP LAST SATURDAY NIGHT NEAR FOURTH ST.

About 9:30 last Saturday night an Italian expressman on his way to Sacramento was held up and robbed on Ann Street, near Fourth, by two highwaymen who got $100 from him.

The two men asked him for the price of a meal and when he offered them a small coin they told him to throw up his hands. This he refused to do and kicked one of the bandits in the stomach, knocking him down.

He was about to make his getaway when the other landed a blow with a revolver on the back of his head knocking him senseless.

He thought they were about to kill him and told them they would find his money in his hip pocket. They found it all right and left on the dead run for the jungles near Riverbank.

Constable Buckingham was called but no trace of the bandits could be found.

The court of Appeals of Sacramento decided the other day that children attending school cannot be forced to dance.

Isn't it awful to waste the time of a court, an expensive court, on such trivial affairs.

CHARGE OF WIFE-STEALING DISMISSED

Woodland, Nov. 1.—The charge against J. V. Morris, a farm worker, of having tried to steal the wife and six children of George A. Henry of the Clarksburg section, was dismissed in Judge Harrison's court yesterday morning on motion of Assistant District Attorney J. H. Laugenour. It developed that the trouble arose over back pay said to be due Morris. Several of the witnesses for the prosecution failed to appear.

There is no foundation for the report spread in Sacramento a few days ago to the effect that the United States Fiber Products plant in West Sacramento has been purchased by parties from Oakland or San Francisco. The Independent has this from undeniable authority.

Mrs. Ira Conrad of Richmond, who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. F. Wheat, to-day returned home.

Mrs. A. A. Dassonville spent last Wednesday with her niece, Mrs. Edward Schick, in East Sacramento.

A delightful Hallowe'en party was given Saturday night at the home of F. L. White, Sr., to a large number of their friends. The evening was spent in playing cards. Hallowe'en games and music, followed by a banquet. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. F. L. White, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. F. L. White, Jr., Mrs. Bessie White, Miss Jeanette Buckingham, Miss Ardella Manchester, Ernest Fisk, Norman White, Wallace White, Howard White and Blair Manchester.

Miss Delmonica Anderson gave a Hallowe'en party to her friends last Sunday evening.

Mrs. Clarence Crittenden of Sacramento, with her sister, Mrs. Ray Peek, gave a birthday party to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McNeven of Washington last Sunday. A delightful birthday dinner was served, and Mrs. McNeven was then presented with a handsome ring, the gift of the two daughters. Those present at the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. James McNeven, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Peek, Hector McNeven, Mrs. A. Nugent, Charles McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Crittenden, and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. McNeven.

Mrs. Hazel Harris and Miss Clarice Talbot went to Stockton last Saturday to spend the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Buckingham, who for the past few months have been visitors at the home of Mrs. Josephine Marty, have returned to their home in Paradise Valley, Nevada.

Earl Hancock has returned from a business trip to San Francisco.

Miss Winnifred Van Hagen of the State Physical Education Department visited the Washington School last week and examined the pupils and playground equipment. She declared herself in favor of the system of physical training here which consists of giving the children exercise with garden tools and light work in the soil. As a result the front of the school has been put entirely into new grass this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank De Riso, Jr., who were married Friday in Sacramento have returned after a week-end honeymoon in the Bay cities and are now at home.

The four grades of the Washington school gave a Hallowe'en party at the schoolhouse Friday night. There were a program, refreshments, and fun. Fancy dancing was a feature of the evening, and among those who danced were Ruth Rickard, Margaret Dupyzk, Hollis Palm, Laverne Thomas and Dolly Keenright, the latter a talented little toe dancer of 12, who also directed and conducted the entire performance. Inez DePrato was Queen of the Green Leaf Girls, and the fifth and sixth grade girls sang "Peggy O'Neil;" Helen Dassondille gave a piano solo and three little girls, Georgie Mathena, Anita Gunn and Bernice Butters, sang a charming song entitled, "Like a Ship Without a Sail." Among other clever numbers was a ghost dance by the larger girls, led by Dolly Keenright and accompanied by Mrs. I. K. Lancester. There was a little play, after which games was played.

Letters to the Editor

Opposed to big elementary schools

I am very concerned about the concept, idea and eventual implementation of 900-student K-8 schools. I think the proposed schools are too large, will require too many resources and will cause some of the same concerns we had at GSMS and currently have at RCHS. My original concept in 1998 was to add K-8, not eliminate middle school.

Elk Grove has multiple track elementary schools that have over 1000 students, however, they usually only have 750-800 students on campus at one time. This of course reduces crowding but parents and teachers can be in school at any time in the year and student breaks are for a month at a time during any part of the year. For example, one track in Elk Grove has students in class in June, July and August while they are off in May and September. We don't want this and have worked to get away from this schedule that we used to have at GSMS many years ago.

Southport Elementary is already a crowded campus when it reaches 700 students. Image how crowded it will be with 900 students? The site is too small and it will leave far too little space for students to run around, have PE or just stretch their legs. Other schools like Westmore Oaks will also be crowded in the campus area although they do have room in the back for PE.

Currently our district enrollment in K-8 is a little over 5200 students. If we divide this into six schools, which is the proposed plan, these schools will average close to 900 students. This will also result in the closure of four schools and the expenditure of $36 million for construction. That is a waste of facilities and money. If we divided this into ten schools we would have an average campus size of a little over 500 students. This would cost almost nothing for facilities but would have a bit more administrative cost involved. However, I do not want to see the whole district go K-8.

If we look at the different areas and schools we can see how this can work well. The north area has around 1320 K-6 students and around 1700 K-8 students. The middle area has around 1470 K-6 students and around 1900 K-8 students. The south area has around 1350 K-6 students and around 1610 K-8 students. The big growth will be in the south area. By adding elementary school #9 to the south area we can reduce the crowding and average around 450 students per campus unless we go K-8. This leaves plenty of room for several years of growth in the district.

I am opposed to going all K-8 while eliminating GSMS, I am opposed to spending $36 million for new construction while we have existing facilities, and I am opposed to 900 student elementary schools, when 500 to 600 students per school works much better for students and staff.

Pleased with the governor

After talking with Governor Schwarzenegger during our tour of the Department of Water Resources joint operations water management center this week, Northern California Water Association would like to publicly applaud the governor for his leadership on California's water issues. The governor has developed a bold vision to meet California's water needs, including the Sites off-stream reservoir in Northern California, improved groundwater management and more efficient uses of water.

We will work side-by-side with the governor and members of the legislature to advance the governor's strategic growth plan to meet the future water demands in California for fish, farms, wildlife refuges, cities and rural communities.

Leadership begins with a vision and Governor Schwarzenegger's strategic growth plan will make California a vital and prosperous state. His progressive plan will help ensure that California's economy and environment will be vibrant into the future.

Remembering Cesar Chavez

In the 60's, while attending Santa Barbara City College, I was assigned a position as editor of "Roots", the college newspaper. My first story assignment was to cover the Cesar Chavez march to Delano in the valley. As I took notes along Highway 99 with the marchers, I felt a certain dignity coming from them honoring Chavez for his sacrifice and determination to make visible the plight of California's farm workers. Today, his legacy has become well-established and his actions brought a resolution to the problem with a positive outcome for all farm workers across California.

Chavez is an important figure in California's Latino history. He showed us the "road map" for change for the future.

How 'public health' is part of your life:

Guest opinion: honoring 'public health week'

From Cheryl Boney
Dep. Director, Public Health Programs
County of Yolo

Public Health. What is it? We may occasionally think about it when we hear about people getting sick from food or other emergencies. But what is it, really?

The general definition of Public Health is:

Public Health is the science of protecting and improving the health of communities through education, promotion of healthy lifestyles, and research for disease and injury prevention.

Public health is concerned with protecting the health of entire populations. These populations can be as small as a local neighborhood, or as big as an entire country. Public health professionals try to prevent problems from happening or re-occurring through implementing educational programs, developing policies, administering services, and conducting research.

But the real definition is how it effects our daily lives. So let's take a snapshot of Public Health in your life.

6 a.m. The alarm clock rings and you roll out of bed. Need to start the day with some exercise to stay healthy. So you put on your walking shoes and bright orange t-shirt and join your Women Who Walk group. The good company and the pedometers make the exercise fun.

6:45 a.m. Return home full of energy from your walk and get the kids started on getting ready for school. You make sure the kids brush their teeth. Fluoride prevents cavities.

7:15 a.m. Start setting out breakfast items. You attended a Healthy Lifestyles class that gave you a great breakfast recipe you want try for the kids. The kids wonder what the new breakfast is, and after trying it, want it again tomorrow.

7:30 a.m. Time to pack the lunches. A balanced meal will help the kids keep their energy levels.

8:00 a.m. It's a gorgeous day. You live only a half mile from the kid's school, so you decide to walk them to school. You have a fun time talking with the kids while you walk, and all of you get some exercise.

9:00 a.m. The work day begins. The design of the building makes it a comfortable place to work. Clean air, ergonomic chairs, good lighting; all because of public health research.

10:30 a.m. You and your coworker head out for a 15 minute walk on your morning break.

Noon: You and a coworker head to a new restaurant 3 blocks away. You decide to walk there. You had checked out the restaurant inspection reports on the county web page, and they had a high grade on cleanliness and safety. Plus the menu identifies which items are healthier.

2:30 p.m. You've heard in the news how important it is to eat more fruits and vegetables, so on your afternoon break, you and a coworker share some fresh strawberries.

5:00 p.m. You leave work to pick up your youngest from child care. When you get there, you make sure he is safely in his car seat. The class you took last week makes you feel more confident he will be safe if there is an accident.

6:00 p.m. You arrive home. While your family cooks dinner, you talk about what's on the news—a hazardous liquid was spilled near a roadway and there were pictures of the hazmat crew out cleaning it up. Then you move on to what activities will the kids want to do this summer, maybe swimming lessons? The public pools are inspected regularly. Definitely a possibility.

7:00 p.m. Your mother calls, excited to tell you that she has decided to quit smoking! So she will be going to a class to learn how and wants you to support her.

8:00 p.m. The local news has a story on how to make a family plan for health and other emergencies. The family talks about it and decides they want to start a plan. It seems like a big job, but the story talked about how to break it down into small tasks. Sounds interesting. You go to the website and download the materials the story talked about. You decide to sit down on the weekend and really get started on it.

9:00 p.m. You go to bed, happy to know that Public Health has protected you through the day.

The dramatic achievements of Public Health in the 20th century have improved our quality of life, increased our life expectancy, and eliminated or reduced many communicable diseases.

So what does Public Health do for you? For more information, call the Yolo County Health Department at (530) 666-8645.

(Editor's note: The News-Ledger inquired about the reference above to viewing restaurant health inspection reports online. A county spokesperson said that the reports are not yet available on the web, but county staff is working on it. Inspections will later be viewable at: http://www.yolocounty.org/org/health/eh/general/food.asp.)

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

CRITIC'S CORNER
By D.NA Smith

"Premonition"

Running time: 100 minutes
MPAA rating: PG-13

"Premonition" starts off with a lot of promise. It gives the impression that you're in for a supernatural mystery, a kind of mix between "Memento" and "Groundhog Day."

Sandra Bullock stars as Linda Hanson, a stay-at-home mom who one day gets a visit from a policeman who informs her that her husband, Jim (Julian McMahon), was killed in a car accident — the day before. Why the cop decided to wait a day to tell her is beyond me. (Oh wait, now I know. Because if he didn't wait a day, there'd be no movie.)

The next morning, she wakes up and Jim is alive. That's because she wakes up earlier in the week, before his death. For most of the film, Linda lives out the week out of order, never sure what day she's going to wake up in; and in those days that she relives, she retains foreknowledge of events to come.

As the movie drags on, you begin to realize the continuity errors. And the plot holes. Then about two-thirds of the way into the film you get the creeping sensation that you're stuck in a movie that's going to have no payoff. No great surprise ending. Instead, what you'll be left with is a limp, quasi-religious explanation for the events that transpired.

Sandra Bullock

Man, I really wanted to like this movie. I really did.

Unfortunately, there were just too many problems with "Premonition" for me to recommend it — even as a rental. It's just bad, the worst kind of bad, because there was so much going for it at the beginning. The premise was so intriguing. Yet, the film failed to deliver the payoff we deserved.

I shoulda seen it coming.

mentoring program provides opportunities for high school students to mentor middle school students. FNL programs are also implemented in Juvenile Hall and Midtown School (a court/community school), including two specialists who help these at-risk youth develop personal goals, complete probation requirements, become successful in school, explore jobs, and locate counseling services and referrals. This program is funded by the federal Safe and Drug Free Schools grant.

The Yolo County FNL Youth Council is another opportunity available for youth. This is a group of young people that meets monthly to discuss and plan events which provide opportunities for youth in Yolo County to come together in a variety of settings, from conferences on youth issues to community service projects. The council provides young people a place to voice their opinions and make decisions while learning from one another. Program staff emphasize that within the council, as well as other FNL programs, youth are making all the decisions. "Adult allies" is the phrase of choice employees use to describe themselves, demonstrating how they want the students to take charge of program development and implementation. Students see this "youth driven, youth led" structure as an important part of the FNL program.

"We want to encourage a continued and expanded presence of FNL programs in Yolo County schools because we believe these programs truly make a difference in the lives of our youth," said Angela Angel, FNL Program Coordinator. "Although success is often difficult to measure, the measure of success for us is the youth keep coming back for more."

To learn more about FNL programs, or to schedule a presentation in your school, call (530) 666-8659.

Chocolate: Mastering the Meltdown

The easiest way to melt chocolate? Microwave it. Because it isn't exposed to direct heat, it's less likely to scorch. Our tips for perfect results:

• Break chocolate into pieces and place in a glass measuring cup with an easy-to-grasp handle.

• On High power, chocolate will melt in 45 seconds to 2 1/2 minutes. Times will vary depending on your microwave oven and the type and amount of chocolate you're using; white chocolate melts faster than milk or semisweet does. If you're new to nuking, start with the shortest time.

• Microwave just until chocolate is soft and shiny (it may hold its shape, so stir until smooth).

• Make sure the measuring cup and stirrer are perfectly dry — just one drop of water can ruin the chocolate's texture!

The Original Knickerbocker: The Life of Washington Irving
by Andrew Burstein
(Basic Books, $27.50)
Reviewed by Larry Cox

Washington Irving was born in New York City in 1793. He was America's first literary celebrity, and he was widely read throughout both Europe and America. Although remembered today for his two most celebrated works, "Rip Van Winkle" and "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," Irving accomplished much, much more.

In addition to writing the first significant biographies of both Christopher Columbus and George Washington, Irving popularized old St. Nicholas and is credited with establishing the customs of our Christmas holiday. He was admitted to the bar, named an ambassador to Spain, and met or befriended at least eight of the first 14 U.S. presidents. He was the first American to earn his living as an author.

In a crisply written new biography, acclaimed historian Andrew Burstein tells the full and complete story of this lost literary giant. In addition to inventing the short story, Irving was a serious historian and influenced such literary heavy hitters as Edgar Allen Poe, Henry James and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

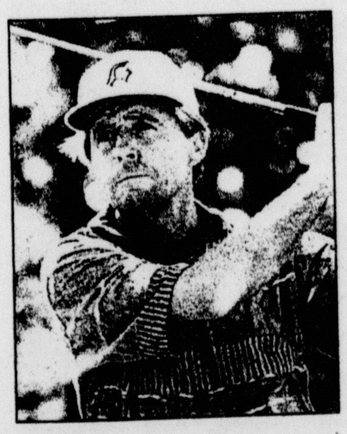

According to Burstein, Irving's deft use of language delighted readers of the Romantic age and helped legitimize other American writers that followed in his wake.

With a historian's eye for detail and significance, "The Original Knickerbocker" humanizes this complex man and documents how he helped shape both the politics and culture of his era. He was, Burstein says, both an American original and a citizen of the world. Two hundred years after Irving became a household name in this country, this meticulously researched biography makes it possible to rediscover this incredible genius.

Books reviewed in this column are available online or at your local bookstore.

Fave Foods OF THE FAMOUS
by Steven Austin

Gary Player

Golf season is here again, and the amazing Gary Player is still going strong. His career as a golf professional began in 1953, and he is one of only five players in history to win golf's Grand Slam (all four major championships). He has a total of nine major wins and more than 160 victories worldwide.

Player was born in South Africa and is a devoted family man and internationally admired philanthropist and humanitarian. Without question, he is one of the greatest athletes in history and is respected by professionals in every sport for his incredible level of physical fitness. He's logged more frequent-flyer miles than an astronaut, and when he's not competing or designing golf courses or new equipment, he still finds time to relax by breeding horses and giving his time and money to a variety of charitable causes.

When you look up the words "gentleman" and "class" in the dictionary, Player's name deserves to be included in the definitions. If an athlete were ever a role model, Player is it. To learn more, go to www.garyplayer.com.

You won The Masters for the first time in 1961. Before the event begins the following year, the winner creates the menu for the Champions Dinner. Do you remember what you chose to serve?

"As a starter, we had a mixed green salad with tomato and avocado with a balsamic vinaigrette dressing. For a main course, I chose grilled salmon served with steamed spinach. Dessert consisted of sliced mangoes."

Your wife used to make brown bread and banana sandwiches that you snacked on during a round of golf. Do you still eat them?

"She still does make the best wholewheat bread, and yes, I do eat whole wheat and avocado sandwiches, and snack on bananas. I supplement this by drinking lots of bottled water, because invariably we are playing in the heat and are easily dehydrated. Obviously the sandwiches and bananas help keep my energy and blood-sugar levels up."

Any interesting food-related stories associated with your contemporaries, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus?

"Oh yes! However, unfortunately this involves an all-out food fight that we had in a hotel room in Japan many years ago after a "Big Three Challenge Match." We all ended up spraying each other with champagne and rubbing ice cream on one another's faces. Not exactly good behavior, for which we each had to pay the hotel to clean up our mess."

Do you have any food superstitions?

"No, not really. Although I have always enjoyed dried fruits, raw almonds and honey as being 'lucky' foods."

Your best diet tips are ...?

"I firmly believe in drinking lots of good-quality bottled water and eating several different types of raw fruit per day. Also, I prefer grilled fish, especially salmon, over red meat, as a rule. I believe exercise is equally as important."

Name a snack few people would believe you eat.

"As I have said, raw almonds are my preference, but I must admit to a particular weakness for the occasional Snickers bar."

Do-It-Yourself Moving Tips

(NAPS)—As many as 17 million household moves take place each year in the U.S. If you are among the do-it-yourselfers, here are a few tips to get you started:

• Truck Selection. Most movers find the 12- or 16-foot truck perfect for moving a few large items or the contents of a small condo or apartment. For guidance with larger moves or your truck selection, visit www.GoPenske.com.

• Reserve your truck at least two weeks in advance.

• Pack smart, loading the heaviest items on the truck first.

• Mark your boxes as you pack, so it's easier to put them in the right room when you unload.

• To ensure a smooth moving day, pick up your truck a day early and practice driving it.

• Take extra precautions, especially when the truck is loaded. Use caution near low-hanging tree branches and building overhangs and when cornering. Park in well-lit areas and padlock the rear door.

• Make safety and security a priority. Trucks are taller, wider, heavier and require more stopping distance than the vehicle you are used to driving. Drive slower and take extra precautions, especially when the truck is loaded. When traveling, park in well-lit areas and padlock the rear door. Penske offers 24/7 emergency roadside assistance and optional protection plans.

Create a travel bag for moving day to keep important paperwork, credit cards, identification, change of clothes, drinks and snacks close at hand. For more moving tips, visit www.GoPenske.com.

Using boxes, packing tape, bubble wrap, moving blankets and hand trucks can help make your move easier.
